

Memory of the Land by Samira Badran

A powerful piece that calls to mind the work of the South African artist William Kentridge. The director was able to convert the images and the environment depicted into a living world. Making use of different languages and codes, she succeeded in giving visual form to complexity and schizophrenia of the situation in which the Palestinians live.